

Model

The model is corrugated board and glue, the 'bookblock' sandwiched to make the thickness and the folded 'case' slightly larger to overlap; the hinge or 'groove' made by running a bone folder along the flute next to the spine. Of course when the real thing is sent out it will be packed in this same stuff, so there's an inversion of material; and outside of this model, at the moment, is just the idea.